2. Hotels nominated by the RFD to follow the SOP.
3. Hotels that have an approved waiver on the bank deposit process, i.e. where monies are not collected from the Hotel by a professional security firm and/or the bank directly.

EXCLUSIONS/EXCEPTIONS

Hotels that have a cash machine which enables daily reconciliation of cash takings/ drops.

BANK DEPOSIT GUIDANCE

- 1) General Cashier completes a separate deposit slip for each day's total monies and makes separate container/tamper proof bag for each day's deposits. There can be following three scenarios for depositing the cash in the bank:

Scenario 1: Sealed envelopes are collected from the hotel by a professional security firm and/or the bank directly:

A witness must be present at the time of preparing the daily container/ tamper proof bag for each day's total monies. The witness and General Cashier to sign the bag daily.

If the collection is not done daily, the container/ tamper proof bag for each day must be stored in the General Cashier's Main Vault.

The professional security firm and/or the bank to only accept bags signed by the two designees and give a receipt of the number of bags collected. The receipt should be reconciled against the total number of bags stored in the General Cashier's Main Vault.

Scenario 2: Monies are counted and collected from the hotel by a professional security firm and/or the bank directly:

A witness must be present at the time of cash collection by the professional security firm and/or the bank.

The witness to also sign the cash deposit receipt as provided by the professional security firm and/or the bank.

The General Cashier to submit the cash deposit receipt to an independent Finance Team Member (i.e. other than the witness).

The Finance Team Member to reconcile the cash deposit receipt from bank against the respective GCRs. Any discrepancies must be highlighted to the Finance Leader and immediately investigated.

Scenario 3: Monies are deposited in the bank by the hotel:

Note: This scenario is only applicable if the hotels have an approved policy waiver in place.

The General Cashier is to be accompanied by a security Team Member while going to the bank to deposit money.

Once the monies are deposited, the General Cashier to submit the cash deposit receipt to a Finance Team Member.

The Finance Team Member to reconcile the cash deposit receipt from bank against the respective GCRs. Any discrepancies must be highlighted to the Finance Leader and immediately investigated.
